

We are a group of students from Southfield Technology College, and we came to Impact to spend the day and see what its like to be at work for the day.

Ashley Farnsworth spent his time with Jordan Parker (spider man) taking photos. "It was really fun I thought it would be working on spread sheets all day but it's not its actually really fun."

Sarah Farnsworth was with Steve Holliday in the HR (human resources) were she short-listed people's application forms and stamped post. Also, she worked in an office. "I really enjoyed it, I thought it was going to be boring but, after a short period of time I realised it was great!"

Emily Wilson worked with Graham Wilson being a finance director for the day. She also did a conference call and answered the phone. "I thought the day was good. End of."

Anna Holmes worked with Helen Clack to write this article and put it on the website. "I thought the day was really good, nothing like I expected it to be!"